BOSTON, Sept. 25 .- For the second ime in two days the Giants and Braves broke even in a double header at Braves Field this afternoon. New York pellet so hard that Stallings's outfielders were ready to drop from sheer exhaustion as a result of chasing the leather to all corners of the lot.

New York amassed a collection of two dozen safeties during the nine innings for a total of forty bases. Bowen and Benton were the only two who failed to get at least one blow. This swatting was done at the expense of Red Causey, a former Giant, and McQuillen. Causey lasted only four innings. He was hammered for six of New York's fourteen runs in that time.
